

Be Prepared: Equipping Kids to Face Today's World

We can't guarantee that this course will take all the challenge out of parenthood. It won't keep kids from forgetting their lunch money, make them trade in their video games for art museum passes, or remind them to scoop the cat's litter box.

But it will help you understand why your parenting is so crucial, how to connect with your kids and to enjoy the journey to the fullest. That's because you'll learn the essentials – what's vital to a healthy parent-child relationship, keys to protecting and training and affirming kids, and what God considers most important in bringing up boys and girls.

In other words, you'll discover how to be the mum or dad you really want to be.

That takes effort, but it doesn't take boredom or busyness. The "Be Prepared" course has been designed to be provocative and practical. At its heart is an entertaining, down-to-earth video series featuring many of today's most popular parenting experts. A short discussion follows each session and the participants guide is available for home study, just what you need to apply that practical wisdom to your family.

While based on Christian principles accompanied by contemporary psychology, the course is very helpful to any parent, with or without Christian faith or church background.

A 2011 Focus on the Family resource

In Essentials of Parenting: “Be Prepared,” authorities like Dr Archibald Hart, Dr Del Tackett, and Glenn Williams present on DVD practical plans for dealing with issues including Internet porn, alcohol, drugs, eating disorders, and sexuality.

You’ll see how to resist the impulse to overprotect your child – and gain insights to help you prepare him or her for the world of today and tomorrow.

The course is targeted to parents of tweens (8-12yrs), but parents of younger or older children would benefit.
